MARCUS OLDHAM SOCIETY

Marcus Oldham embraces the sense of connection and loyalty that is associated with our graduates, industry leaders, philanthropic supporters and friends within the College community. A wonderful way to continue to be part of this connection is to invest in the future of the College through a bequest.

Becoming a member of The Oldham Society is a way to show your commitment to the future of educating professionals in agriculture and the equine industry.

As a member of The Oldham Society, you will have the opportunity to be involved with the College during your lifetime (should you choose), and connect with other like-minded supporters through special events and luncheons held throughout the year.

By advising the Foundation of your intent to include Marcus Oldham in your Will, you are invited to join the Oldham Society.

YES, I would like to become a member of the Oldham Society.

We would be delighted to know more about your reason to consider Marcus Oldham in your Will. Please feel free to tell us more about you and your connection to the College, young people education and agriculture:
